One (1) cone-shaped object the size of a dime at ten (10) feet. Object's color was pink turning to white. Object followed an elliptical course and was first sighted at 60° elevation and 180° azimuth. Object disappeared and reappeared. Object was observed visually and through binoculars for 1 hour and 54 minutes. Object disappeared by fading out of sight at 70° azimuth.

Size, shape, color, course, winds, and duration of sighting indicate ~~the~~ the probability ~~of~~ that this sighting was caused by a balloon. ~~Do not remove with~~ Evaluation: "probable balloon".
