AIR INTELLIGENCE INFORMATION REPORT

AREA REPORTED ON Lake Mead, Nevada	FROM (Agency) 106th Bomb Wing, Intelligence

PREPARED BY (Officer) 2 Lt [redacted] Operational Intel.	SOURCE 102nd Bomb Squadron

SUMMARY: (Enter concise summary of report. Give significance in final one-sentence paragraph. List inclosures at lower left. Begin text of report on AF Form 112—Part II.)

The following statements concerning an unidentified object were made by M Sgt Sheld [redacted] Lt A. J. Thomas, Intelligence Officer, 102nd Bomb Squadron on 7 April 1952:

While on a fishing trip to Lake Mead in Nevada with my wife and a friend, an unidentified object was observed. We first saw this object between 0900 and 1000 hours Wednesday, 2 April 1952. It was silver in color, very large and was at a tremendous altitude making it impossible for us to determine its shape. (During the Interrogation asking for an approximation as to the size, M Sgt Smith estimated the object to be "...the size of a B-36 without wings...") As it moved but a very short distance in the period observed, we are all positive that there was an object there. After approximately one hour, it suddenly vanished. Our observation was visual. Our attention was brought to this object due to a flight of F-86's that went overhead at approximately 0900 hours which were leaving vapor trails so I think they were at least at 15,000'. The object appeared to us after this passage and remained for about an hour. It seemed to be at a considerably higher altitude than the vapor trails.

Our position at the time was at the eastern extremity of Lake Mead approximately 114 degrees, 10 minutes West; 36 degrees, 15 minutes North.

The three persons making the observation were [redacted], M Sgt [redacted], and a friend from Lockburne AFB, Columbus, Ohio, and myself.

Weather was CAVU. There were no disturbing weather phenomena. No physical evidence is available. The reporting of this incident is related to
