- 1. On Sumday night, 9 September 1956, at 2035 (EST) as Mr.

  was taking his sister-in-law Mrs.

  home at the lane, Hampton, Va, an object appeared from a southerly direction. At first glance the object appeared to be the moon but after more careful observation its speed seemed too fast for that.

  The average of the object were followed till 2055 at which time it disappeared.
- 2. When first seen the object was bright red or gold in color and looked somewhat like a headlight. Shortly after, the object seemed to flatten out and the righted itself again. From time to time, the object would gradually grow smaller to what seemed to be the size of a soft-ball, or grow larger to a diameter of 14-15 inches. As it diminished, its color would darken to deep red. The nearest distance at which it was observed was two(2) miles.
- 3. The dominant shape was compared to the moon or crescent shaped.

  Its mass seemed fuzzy and the strangest impression was that the object was occupied. Mrs. stated that it appeared to be a bird or ducklike but that in the position of the head or cockpit there seemed to be an occupant wearing some sort of headgear. Mrs. who first saw the object at 2045 (EST), thought she saw the features of a man in the object even to the point of seeing his feet.
  - was a light that shot straight up and out and disappeared. Mrs.

    who observed the object from her home at the same thing but from the side. Her impression was that vapor shot out from one end toward the other as if to form a circle but faded out at the peak of the curve. Lights could be seen surrounding the object intermittently. They seemed to radiate out approximately one foot from the edges. The lights were of two (2) shapes: oblong and triangular; the triangular shape being the most dominant. There was no sound at anytime.
    - 5. The path of flight was of gradual descension from the height of a few hundred feet to the treetop level of a swampy wooded area i to one mile distant, at which point it disappeared headed in the general direction of Yorktown, Virginia at 2055 (EST).
    - 6. Additional comments by the observers were that special note was taken that no other aircraft were in the vicinity during the time that the object was seen. There were a few clouds in the sky but they were not near the object and no other objects interfered with the visibility which wasgeood even though it was dark at the time.
    - 7. Weether reports at that time indicated scattered clouds at 3000ft, and 6000 ft, unlimited ceiling, and fifteen (15) miles visitality. No thunderstorms in the area, but there were storm morth winds. The many was waning and set at 2115 (ET)

- 8. The observers were: Mr. W. Electrician; Mrs., registered nurse; Mrs.
- 9. Mrs. stated that her husband was not one given to hallucinations, butmust "See to believe," and he is positive that what he saw was not the moon.
- 10. During World War II, Mrs. was in the Signal Corps at Langley AFB doing code work. She also worked with the CSI.
- Il. The observers made a report to Base Operations 10 September and it was recieved by the 48th Fighter Interceptor Squadron late that day. The information in the initial report was scanty making it necessary to make a more detailed investigation. This accounts for the extended reporting time.

Comments of investigating Officer;

The general area in which the object was sighted would fall within R-29 on the WAC charts of this area. The observers felt very sure that what saw was not the moon. Their impressions were given as specifically as possible but nevertheless only by approximation. The size of the object very easily could have been much larger than 14 or 15 inches in diameter. Weather reports that the moon was in the same general area and that it set at 2115 (EST) could well account for the descending motion and also the color and increasing size since the moon does seem to increase in size and change in color as it nears the horizon.

- 1. In Unidentified Flying object was sighted Sunday, 9 September 1956, between 2035 and 2055 (EST) near Rig Bethel. Big Bethel is approximately three (3) miles north west of the Langley Air Force Base westgate. Three civilians sighted the object and compared it to the moon in shape and size. According to their statement, the object's speed and flight path ruled out its possibility of being the moon. Although some clouds were in the sky, visibility was good. There was some change in color and shape and movements, but it was gradual. The opinion of all observers was that the object was occupied, but that a clear discription could not be made because the interior of the object was fuzzy.
- 2. Weather reports coincide with observer's description with the exception of the moon which was waning and which set twenty (20) minutes after the object was seen moving out of sight in a downward flight path. The evaluation F-4 was given because there was no way to accurately determine the reliability of the observers other than the fact that each comfirms the other's statements. In addition evidence from weather reports indicates that the object was most likely the moon.

Comments of investigating Officer:

The general area in which the object was sighted would fall which R-29 on the WAG charts of this area. The observers felt very sure that what saw was not the moon.
